Circular... No. V.

Haytian Bureau of Emigration,
No. 8 Washington Building, 221 Washington Street, }

Boston, Jan. 8, 1861.

To Men of African descent in the United States and Canadas :

FRIENDS :—Arrangements have been made by this Bureau by which Emigrants can sail from this Port in regular Packets, every two weeks, or oftener, for the Republic of Hayti.

Those who go by these packets must in all cases pay their own passage; the price of which will be $18, provisions being found. This is about one-third the usual rates of charge from Northern ports.

Whenever any colony of fifty, or over, signify their readiness to sail at a designated time, a vessel will be chartered expressly for the purpose of conveying them comfortably and speedily from this Port to Hayti. Price of passage, same as above.

Laborers and Farmers, going by these chartered vessels, can, if unable to pay it, have their passage money advanced to them; but they will have to prepay their board for the voyage. The amount of this will be $8 for adults; $5 for children under 12; children under 2 years, free. Usual length of voyage, from 14 to 20 days.

Those emigrants who accept grants of Government lands in Hayti, will be allowed two or three years in which to repay the passage money ($10) thus advanced.

Those who, for any reason, see fit to leave Hayti before the expiration of three years, will be required to repay the amount before leaving.

Those who do not choose to accept Government lands, but remain over three years in the Island, will not be required to repay it at all.

Emigrants who go in vessels specially chartered by this Bureau will be allowed to take any reasonable amount of household goods and farming implements free of charge.

Those who go by regular packets will be charged for freight at the rate of 90 cents per barrel, or 18 cents per square foot.

Emigrants must defray their own expenses in reaching Boston.

All who design to emigrate are earnestly requested to give this Bureau ample notice of their readiness to sail.

JAMES REDPATH,

Commissioner of Emigration to Hayti for the United States and the Canadas.
